

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for development of a business process software application which comprises an action object for causing a computer system to implement an activity of a business process. The method comprises the steps of: storing a plurality of business objects, receiving a first description of a flow of the business objects, and generating the action object by combining the business objects according to the first description.

10

0901361-1361361